Abbitt Returns To Congress

Bennett Wins Conservation Award

By R. E. McClenny, Jr.

James D. Bennett of Red House has been awarded the title most outstanding conservation farmer in the Five - County Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District. He owns 880 acres and operates over 1000 acres in the Red House community of Campbell and Charlotte Counties. His entire operation is centered around good conservation and sound management.

The Bennett's maintain a herd of about 100 registered Polled Hereford brood cows. The sale of breeding stock is the main enterprise. The entire beef herd is on the B. C. a. records program. Young Bulls consigned to the Culpepper sale and feed lot testing program have performed well.

All pastures are in improved grasses and well managed.

To support the beef and swine herds Bennett has an excellent cropping system. Contour strips weave around the slopes in long ribbon-like patterns. Sod water ways carpet the draws. Tobacco land is terraced.

Valuable water is stored in ponds. Nine ponds are located where needed for irrigation, livestock water, and recreation woodland on the Bennett farm is well managed. In cooperation with the Virginia Division of Forestry, James converted 75 acres of cull hardwood to pine. About 65,000 loblolly pine have been planted.

Mr. Bennett has been a rare leader in our area. He served as director of the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District for seven years and president of the Little Falling River Watershed Association. As a member of Providence Baptist Church, he teaches Sunday School, serves as a trustee and on the Board of Deacons. James in involved in many farm organizations, especially the Hereford Organizations.

James C. Rea, president of the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District extends congratulations to Mr. James D. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett of Red House for being selected as Outstanding Conservation Farmer in the 5-County District. At the far right, R. E. McClenny, Jr. Soil Conservationist for Appomattox-Campbell counties.

In making the awards presentation, District Conservationist R. E. McClenny, Jr. stated that the Bennett family is a credit to conservation and a credit to agriculture. They have set a good example and inspired others. "The Bennett farms clearly shows that conservation pays," McClenny said.

Accepting the award, Mr. Bennett gave much credit to his father and Mr. John Harrison, retired conservationist who planned and helped implement the conservation program.

Traffic Count May Influence Stop Light

A traffic count will be held Friday, Nov. 6 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at two major intersections in the town of Appomattox, Court Street and Rt. 460 (near Kings Market) and at Church St. and Rt. 460 (near the High School).

The decision by the Va. Dept. of Highways to make the traffic count follows a recent meeting of town and county officials, Appomattox County Jaycees and other residents. Among those attending were C. T. Moses, Jr., Commonwealth's attorney Harry Gordon Lawson, county supervisor John C. Cole, Appomattox town mayor Henry Pack, and others. This is a project that the Jaycees have been promoting and is a follow-up to efforts by other groups.

Va. Dept. of Highways officials say that there should be a count of 125 to 150 cars per hour entering the main route from the side streets and that there would be a delay of one minute or more for a vehicle before requirements can be met for a stop light on Rt. 460.

LIONS CLUB

Lions of Appomattox will meet tonight (Thursday) at the Parkway at 6:45 p.m. Emmett McCray, assistant to the resident engineer, Va. Dept. of Highways, Appomattox, is in charge of the program

Hon. Watkins M. Abbitt

Byrd Elected

Appomattox County gave overwhelming support Tuesday to veteran Democratic Representative Watkins M. Abbitt, victorious in his bid for a 12th term in the House of Representatives. County voters likewise endorsed U.S. Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., running as an Independent, who scored a sound victory statewide in his bid to return to the Senate.

The $2 million school bond issue was defeated in a close vote with unofficial tally at 1749 for the issue and 1755 against.

Unofficial count on the Congressional race in the county showed 3125 votes for Democrat W. M. Abbitt, 379 votes for Independent Ben Ragsdale and 102 for Republican James Helms.

State-wide, the four proposed revisions to the state constitution were heavily approved, but in Appomattox county, the revisions were rejected in most precincts by as much as a two to one vote.

Charlie B. Rush and Dan Coleman, running unopposed as directors for the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District were given substantial endorsement by voters.

County 100%

A young man, offering his help to move Red Cross equipment, became donor number 101 on Tuesday morning to keep Appomattox 100% of quota in the second Bloodmobile visit of the fiscal year. William Watson, first time donor, put the county on top. Quota for the visit was 105, but with the previous visit's 109 donors, the county is still 100% to date.

Night People Are Busy

The Night People are eighteen busy and happy adults that meet each Tuesday and Thursday night at the Intermediate School. They are very happy the Appomattox County School Board is offering Adult Basic Education. They are learning to read and write better and learning more about arithmetic. They were afraid at first because they had not learned any thing like this for more than 20 years and some had not been in a school for more than 30 years.

10 of these adults attended last year from October to May. They received certificates and are back this year. They even brought other adults with them.

The classes began on Oct. 23, 1970. This does not mean you would be behind. Everyone learns at his own rate and goes as fast as he or she can. You don't thing about what the others are doing. You think only about what you are doing.

There are a few openings in the second class that is being taught by Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Waddell. It is not too late for you to start. Don't put off another day if this is for you. Call or write to the Appomattox County School Board office. It is never too late to learn. Come and join the happy busy Night People.

Chamber of Commerce Hears Travel Executive

Seven Directors Elected At Annual Dinner

For economic success in the travel business, "get involved", said R. Parker Nelson, executive vice president, Va. Travel Council, speaking Thursday evening at the annual meeting of the Appomattox County Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Nelson, who interrupted his own travels in Virginia on a conducted tour, said that competition for "travel dollarz" is fierce and that Virginia really needs to develop winter travel business in addition to its considerable efforts to entice visitors. "Travel in the years ahead," he said, "is going to make a bigger impact than industry or agriculture."

To support his statements he related that it has taken 363 years for the U. S. population to reach 200 million and that over the next 30 years this figure will double. This means, he added, that by 1980 there will be 25 million people over 65 in the U.S. with complete leisure time.

Everyone benefits from the travel dollar, said Mr. Nelson. The retailer gets 22¢. Entertainment and attractions get 6¢ out of that travel dollar, with the average couple spending $35.00 per day for accomodations, food, etc.

"Word of mouth" is the biggest producer in advertising, he said. A traveler with a "good experience" in traveling will tell two others about it. A traveler with a "bad experience" will tell ten. He suggested that for Appomattox to capitalize on its considerable tourist volume, we should "get them here" and "keep them happier."

Mr. Nelson complimented the Chamber of Commerce on its attractive Appomattox brochure. About 25,000 of them are distributed annually by the Va. Travel Council.

Inspect Vehicles

A new vehicle will be coming in on Sunday, said Rescue Squad member Ray Noble with another vehicle coming in the following Tuesday. A decision will be made by all the members on Nov. 10 on a choice of vehicles to be used.

This is a record accomplishment for fund raising, according to residents of many years. Nothing like it has occurred since World War II days when bond drives were held, said publicity chairman Bill Sperry.

All donations, above the cost of the new vehicle and equipment will be used for operating expenses.
